- Students who are quarantined due to exposure are expected to check into Google Classroom according to their normal bell schedule. Students who are symptomatically excluded are encouraged to check into each Google Classroom according to their normal bell schedule.
- Should a student be too ill to work, students should communicate with their teacher to create a make up plan. Parents and guardians, please contact the school directly should this situation apply to your student.
- Most high school classes will all be run as synchronous during the scheduled class period. If possible, all quarantined students can actively participate within their classrooms synchronously.

Please note: Pearson Connexus may be used in lieu of the Google Classroom platform based on individual scheduling needs.*
